

Women: Liberated or enslaved

by Abdallah Musa Abdul (penabdul) - www.penabdul.com

PEN ABDUL

From Abu Jabir Abdullah Musa Abdul Penabdul

I begin with the Name of Allaah, the Entirely Merciful, the Especially Merciful.

While the crux of the 21st century civilization is largely for women's right, it is still confusing why there seems to be an obsession with the use of women (scantily dressed or even completely naked) to promote goods and services. Isn't this hypocritical?

They liberate women by unveiling their concealment. The more naked, the more liberated.

It is sad to see young Muslim women with rich Islamic culture struggling to expose their hair, body and nakedness... In order to project an illusion of a liberated mind.

It is also sad that there seems to be the demise of the modesty that the Muslim woman is adored for. She feels liberated if she finds herself in the midst of strange men. Our women need to cherish the modesty that Allaah has adored them with. The man feels 'yoyo' in their midst.

I swear to Allaah, no sinful mind is in a state of tranquility. There is a medical explanation for most mental illnesses but sins also contribute to anxiety, fear, depression and restlessness.

Modesty is the vehicle that conveys chaste women.

???????????? ???? ?????????? ?????????? ????? ???????????????

Qur'an 28:25

"Soon thereafter one of the two women came to him, walking bashfully,"

A woman almost half naked is being cheered on by a sick man with the words of "you look gorgeous" and she slavishly answered "ohh! thank you" that's mental conquest in the guise of liberation.

When they strip you off your modesty, you become confused and unhappy and then objects of gratification for men.

On one hand, they promote women's right and "equality" to men while on the hand they cajole and lure women to expose their bodies for men to admire. They have subliminally convinced the women that subscribe to their slogans to live their lives trying to compete and attract men.

You see them as liberated, but we see them as innocent people that have been sequentially persuaded and subliminally seduced to become mentally conquered by those cashing out on women's nudity.

Pray to Allaah and strive your utmost to raise your kids in the best manner as enshrined in the impeccable teachings of Qur'an and Sunnah. The spiritual viruses are so overwhelming that we need to be seriously prayerful for Allah's assistance.

Twitter: @Penabdull Instagram: @Penabdul